

Don't Miss the Breadline!

Bread is on the rise this week, with final entries flooding in for Tiptree World Bread Awards and the Great British Bake-Off contestants kneading to prove their worth as the show reaches bread week.

Tiptree WorldBread Awards celebrates the very best of professional and home-baking and with 12 million loaves bought every day in the UK, we need you to prove your bread is the best – for further information and an entry form visit www.worldbreadawards.com. The closing date is 31 August 2014.

Your bread will need to impress our dough supremos; Frances Quinn, winner, The Great British Bake Off 2013, Nigel Barden, BBC Radio 2, Food and Drink Broadcaster Charles Champion, Food Critic, MasterChef, as well as a host of bread industry experts.

With a wealth of categories to choose from, it's time to don your aprons, gather up your mixing bowls and brush up on your bread making masterpieces – we need to find our 2014 bread champion and it could be you.

For further information and interview requests please contact: Sue Richmond, Kenyon Communications, Mobile: 07708 690707
Email: sue@kenyon-communications.com

Twitter: @WorldBreadAward